SOPHS COME OUT AHEAD IN BRAWL AMID PROTESTS

Yearlings Make Fine Showing In Annual Tussle, But Only Unofficially

Characterized by loud cries of "crooked," "fake," and so forth, the annual lower division struggle came to a close yesterday afternoon. Block SM members took care of the proceedings and the sophomores. The yearlings received verbal support from four unidentified spectators. As usual, phoney decisions were very much in evidence.

Starting off with a mighty flourish, the babes took the opening event, the relay. Coming from behind after threatening several times, the first year men forged ahead in the last lap, winning handily by several hundred feet.

The sophomore team appeared overtrained while the frosh looked to be in the pink of condition.

Championship Material

Following their first triumph with another, the boys from Augustine Hall captured the three-leged race, only after a terrific two-lap sprint had been run. There were insinuations of ringers having been run, but these were found to be false. This event was proclaimed by all to be an exhibition of real championship ability.

Becoming uneasy after two successive defeats, the second year men took a brace and won the wheel-barrow race, only after some of the larger members of the class had picked up their mates and carried them across the finish line. It was a pretty exhibition of brute strength and bum refereeing.

Outstanding performers for the sophomores were Alvin Quittman, Mike Perry, and class president, Burroughs.

Frosh Lose Joust

The jousting tourney was also won by the Aquinas Hall delegation. It was felt by those officiating that the frosh aggregation was a little too large so the squad was cut down.

The opening whistle no sooner blew than the frosh were disqualified for having too many men on the field. Public opinion forced a playoff which was won by the sophs.

Freshmen were not allowed to reenter competition after hitting the

Official Welcome Extended to Frosh At First Meeting

For the purpose of acquainting the new students with the various phases of campus activity, a special welcome meeting of the freshman class was called by student body president, Joseph Alioto Tuesday morning.

Unfortunately, Brother Albert, president of the college, due to a slight illness, was not present to extend his usual official welcome to the first year men. However, Brother Patrick opened the session with a few words of greeting and at the same time expressed the president's sentiments.

Speaking on the spiritual side of campus life, Father Bowling, chaplain, stressed the need of the spirit of religion at the college and outlined the chapel exercises for the coming year.

E. J. Smiddy, debate coach, declared that while debating will not bring about immediate benefits, it has its inherent value which would be realized in the future. He especially urged the freshmen to engage in this form of extra-curricular activity.

In the role of graduate manager, William Smith elucidated several points relative to the football ticket set-up.

Other speakers who outlined the scope of affairs in their representative activities were Elias Welch, editor of the "Collegian," and Lawrence Mana, editor of the "Gael."

As a parting word, the student body president ni a special plea encouraged all new students to purchase student body cards immediately.

New Statue Will Be Placed In Chapel

Information has been received by college authorities that a party whose name is yet to be divulged, is contemplating the donation of a statue of the Sacred Heart for the college Chapel.

This statue will be agreeably welcomed, for at the present time there is no representation of such an important symbol in Catholic adoration within the Chapel. Uniformity, which is all important in the arrangement of statuary and other pieces of art within the Chapel, will also be supplied.

The statue will be placed in the vacant alcove, contiguous to the Sanctuary, on the Gospel side of the Altar. By its position it will be in accord with the recently donated statue of Saint Isabel.

Dr. Campbell Begins Cal. Lecture Series

Dr. A. S. Campbell, professor of geology, this week began his annual courses in the University of California extension division. Classes in "General Biology" to be given on the Berkeley campus opened last Tuesday night.

Another course, "Heredity and Evolution" to be given in two sections, was begun last evening. This course will be given in the Oakland department of the extension division.

Medical Club Meets, Decides Future Policy

At the initial meeting of the Pre-Medical Club, held last Wednesday noon, Thomas McIntosh was elected secretary-treasurer and various topics of policy were discussed, it was reported by Rodney Stetson, president.

The withdrawal of Bob Cooney from college left the vacancy in the secretarial department. Dr. A. S. Campbell, moderator of the organization, proposed that measures be taken to enlarge the membership. Proposed trips to various medical institutions were also discussed.

APGU Will Hold Meeting Tuesday

Members of the APGU, campus honor society, will hold a business meeting next Tuesday noon in Galileo Hall.

New officers will be elected for the coming year and plans for the period will be laid.

The club has given the college library a subscription to the Readers Digest, and the periodical will now be available for use by the students beginning with the issues of August and September.

Science School Gets New Equipment

Approximately $10,000 in new equipment for the School of Science was purchased this week, according to Dean Stephen J. Tomer. This amount is to be an annual appropriation set aside for expansion of the school.

The equipment will be used in the various departments of the schools, particularly physics, chemistry and the geological sciences. Recently established department of engineering also received a liberal allotment.

Only the most modern of scientific apparatus was purchased.

Taken seriously ill on the campus Tuesday night, Charles Jensen, sophomore student, is now recovering in Providence Hospital in Oakland.

It was at first thought by the doctors in charge of the case that Jensen had contracted pneumonia, but later diagnosis showed that he has a severe case of bronchial influenza.

SOPHS TO GREET FRESHMEN WITH WELCOME DANCE

Hotel Oakland to Be Scene of Dance on September 18; Music by Donahoo

Welcoming the largest freshman class since 1931 to the campus, the traditional "Freshman Welcome Dance" will be held at the Ivory Court of the Hotel Oakland under the auspices of the sophomore class on the evening of Friday, September 18.

Furnishing the music for the opening social event of the collegiate year will be the fast rising rhythmical organization of Puss Donahoo, well known in collegiate circles.

Social Committee Approves

Having received the approval of the Social Committee, president Fred Burrows of the sophomore class has made rapid progress with the plans for the dance, which had been tentative pending official sanction.

All arrangements have been completed for the exclusive use of the Ivory Court on the night of the dance and dates for those who have not as yet become acquainted in town have been arranged with Holy Names College.

Must Have Caps

As has been the custom in the past, freshmen will be admitted to the dance floor on presentation of their caps at the door. Burrows said that bids would be on sale the first part of next week and could be secured from any officer of the class.

Dancing will continue from 9 to 1 and an evening of worth-while entertainment has been promised by the committee in charge of final arrangements.

St. Vincent de Paul Society Reorganizes

In their first meeting held last Tuesday evening, members of the local conference of the Saint Vincent de Paul society staged a general reorganization of the society to meet needs for the school year.

In order to fill vacancies incurred by graduation, new committees were formed to carry out the group's activities. Ernie Jorge was made chairman of the literature committee; Martin Kordick of the correspondence committee; Carl Schuck of the visiting committee; Nicholas Haloski of the salvage department, and William Tipton of the teaching committee.

President Confined to Bed During Week

Brother Albert, president of the college, was confined to Saint Mary's Hospital, San Francisco, for two days this week with a severe attack of tonsilitis.

The attending physician, Dr. Hubert Arnold, announced that it would be necessary that Brother Albert have his tonsils removed, but because of a rundown condition, caused by overwork, the operation could not be performed for about a month's time.

The president was back in his office on Wednesday afternoon.

Alumnus Elevated to Rank of Monsignor

An alumnus of the college and a benefactor of the institution were last week elevated to the rank of domestic prelate with the title of Right Reverend Monsignor.

Monsignor William Sullivan, pastor of Holy Redeemer Church, San Francisco, was honored by the Holy Father. Last April, he made the address to the students in the chapel on President's Day and spoke on the aims of the Catholic college.

Likewise honored was Monsignor Timothy Callahan, pastor of Saint Matthew's Church, San Mateo. Long a friend of the college, Monsignor Callahan has given several hundred books to the college library bearing mainly on religious and philosophical topics.

Economics Assn. To Hold First Meeting

First meeting of the year for the Economics Association will be held some time during the week beginning with September 15, it was announced yesterday by Carl Shuck, secretary.

New officers for the school year will at that time be chosen and matters of society policy discussed, it was reported.

Benediction Ends Eucharstic Fete

Ceremonies In Conjunction With Dioceson Congress

Requested by Archbishop Mitty to serve in part as a retribution to The Holy Eucharist for the sacrileges now being perpetrated in Spain by radical groups, the students of the college today participated in exercises in connection with the Diocesan Eucharistic Congress.

The campus ceremonies began this morning with a Mass in the college chapel at eight o'clock at which time many members of the student body received Communion in honor of the Sacred Heart. After the Mass, and throughout the entire morning, there was adoration of the Blessed Sacrament, exposed on the altar.

The services will be brought to a conclusion this afternoon at 12:30 with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament in the chapel.

Throughout the archdiocese today special Masses and other services were held for the special intention, and as Saint Mary's is a Catholic school it was deemed fitting by Archbishop Mitty that the students should in some way take an active part in the ceremonies.

Members of the senior class will act as guards of honor during the day, it was announced.

Sales Slogan

"Standard gasoline and oil . . . . Standard gasoline unsurpassed . . " These strange mutterings were heard by five weary men of the Collegian editorial staff returning to the campus at 6 a.m. last Friday morning after bringing out the first issue of the paper.

Curious in spite of their fatigue, they investigated and found the sound emanating from two rooms in the senior hall, those occupied by Floyd Maxham and John Gianonni.

Later in the day, the five sought an explanation, but received none but caustic replies.

Solution Reached

However, yesterday the solution to their problem was reached, when Brother Patrick announced that the long-closed campus service station would be reopened this noon "with appropriate ceremonies."

Further investigation showed that the managers of the station would be Maxham and Gianonni, and hence the cause of the sales slogan.

Besides these two campus notables at least three other students will be involved in the enterprise, profits of the concern to be distributed among those laboring in equitable fashion, Madigan indicated.

Complete service will be rendered is the policy of our two embryonic petrol salesmen, who assert that windshields will be scoured, tires inflated, batteries replenished, with the same devotion as any other regular bone fide Standard station.

Courteous Service

Not only that, but the boys will also do first class jobs of oil draining, crankcase flushing and replenishing with all grades of oil, from the lowest Western grade to the newly developed RPM. No greasing service, however, can be given as proper equipment is not available.

Great benefit will accrue to the new concern because of Floyd Max-

DETROIT RADIO PRIEST ASKED TO TO SPEAK HERE

Ex-Council to Invite Father Coughlin to Address the Student Body

Father Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit "radio priest" and president of the National Union for Social Justice, will be invited to address the student body as the guest of the Associated Students, it was decided by the executive council at its regular meeting last Wednesday, following a stormy session.

After a lively discussion, the final vote tallied nine to three in favor of issuing the invitation. Cornelio Baca, ASSMC secretary, initiated the measure and did most of the arguing in its behalf. Leading the opposition was John Soares. A committee was appointed by the chairman to complete plans for the occasion.

Reacting to this plan, Brother Albert, president of the college, declared: "I understand that the students intend to invite other national figures to address them. My only desire is that all sides in any controversial issue be given equal opportunity of being heard."

A motion was made that the old parking regulation in the Center Hall oval be enforced. The law is to be in effect next Tuesday, after which date violators will be fined $1.00.

Student body president, Joseph Alioto, announced his appointments to the Student Affairs Committee which received the approval of the Council. William Tipton, senior, and William Bourne, junior, are the new men to assume their respective duties in this committee.

Two minor questions, which were lightly discussed, will receive definite action at the next meeting.

Student Body Card Sale Gets Started

Student body cards for the current year went on sale last Tuesday night, with student body treasurer, Victor Strub and his aides canvassing the three dormitories.

High art marked the make-up of the card this year when the technical usually found on cards was dropped in favor of a pleasing appearance. A blue gloss card-board material was used with the wording in gold script type.

Strub announced that for the greater convenience of day students, a number of cards will be placed on sale in the students' bookstore, with Carl Schuck acting as student body representative.

Work on Campus Roads Progresses

Work on the roads on the campus is progressing favorably, Reinhold von Wetter, landscape architect stated this week. While the date for the actual paving of the project has not been defintely set, von Wetter expects that the work will commence within three weeks.

An increased force is greatly expediting the work, both on this and other units. The hill overlooking the lake is being rounded by a large crew with the aid of a tractor, and will be completed as soon as possible.

OFFICIAL

Office of the Recorder

On Monday, Labor Day, classes will not be in session. Classes will be resumed at 8 o'clock on Tuesday.

Because of the late opening of college, there will be no holiday on Wednesday. Classes will be held as usual.

Supplement to Faculty Regulations:

"Absences on school days immediately preceding or immediately following holidays will be counted as double 'cuts'." A new regulation, it is to take effect at once.

Postponed Mass To Be Held Wednesday

Because of the illness of Brother Albert, president of the college, the annual Mass of the Holy Ghost, originally scheduled for last Wednesday, has been postponed until next Wednesday morning at 9:30.

The traditional service officially opens the college year and consecrates the college, students and faculty to Almighty God.

Celebrant for the Mass will be the Reverend Benjamin Bowling, C. S. P., student chaplain, with the Reverend John Turco, deacon, and the Reverend Albert Duffy as subdeacon.

The entire faculty, clad in their academic gowns, will march in procession, followed by all the students of the college.

Senior Class To Sponsor Theatre

Saint Mary's College may soon have a theatre! This news came as a result of an announcement by Bill Simon, president of the senior class, which intends to sponsor the project. The campus is being canvassed for a suitable site, and work will be begun upon approval of the location by Brother Albert, president of the college.

Location for the structure will be chosen with views to accessibility, general convenience, and ground plan of the college.

The building, according to tentative plans, will be an open-air structure of such a size to easily accommodate all members of the college and spectators, and will be used for student body functions of all kinds.

The construction of the new theater is part of the program to reestablish dramatics at Saint Mary's, which once-important part of the college curriculum has suffered a decline during the last few years due to lack of facilities, further augmented by the razing last year of the Little Theater north of the gymnasium.

Dramatics will be under the supervision of Dr. Louis F. LeFevre, aided by Bill Simon, and will make its debut upon completion of the theater sometime during the spring semester.

Members of the student body who desire to engage in this activity will become eligible by becoming members of the Student Players, to be reorganized within the next two weeks.

WORK ON "GAEL" IS HALTED UNTIL BOOKS ARE SOLD

Moderator Requires $500 Be Raised Before Work Starts

"$500 or else . . . . "

Once more the familiar battle cry of the Saint Mary's "Gael"—the only surviving yearbook in a Catholic college on the Pacific Coast—is heard as the faculty director of publications gave the above ultimatum to the 1937 staff.

"Not until $500 is raised will actual work be commenced on the yearbook. Until then nothing definite can be decided on as to the 1937 Gael," stated the moderator.

As a consequence, Finance Editor Larry Webber outlined an intensive sales campaign to commence on September 8 in order to raise the needed amount, so as to remove the last barrier towards the actual commencement of the 1937 Gael.

A Gael for Every Student

As usual, the Gael will be sold on the installment plan, payable 50 cents at a time until the whole $3.50 has been realized. Larry Webber announced early this week that sales books had already been printed and the campaign was all set to start.

"The slogan for the 1937 Gael is 'A Gael for every Saint Mary's Man!' With a 100 per cent record of sales on the campus the success of the Gael will be assured," he stated, "but until our goal is reached, we will continue our campaign to make our sales larger than any other year.

Saint Mary's students should take pride in the fact that their is the only men's college that has been able to maintain an annual publication throughout the depression. Recognizing this fact, the students, no doubt, will be most willing to cooperate with the 1937 staff. In no better way can this be done than by paying the first installment on this year's book as early as possible."

As in previous years, the annual will be sold by a corps of salesmen recruited from the various classes. For the boarders, Elias Welch, Le Englert, Nick Haloski, Ray Cleone John Giannoni have been appointed as salesmen, while Earl Fleming and Joseph I. Alioto have been chosen to handle the day scholars.

Present Period in Spain Incomparable in History

"No period in history, not even the French revolution, can compare with the present situation in Spain." So stated Father John Turco, professor of Political Science, recently returned from Europe.

Refugees at Gibraltar, reported Father Turco, told unbelievable stories of the outrages being permitted, most of them unprintable. "Not even the graves," he continued, "are safe from desecration. Atrocities of the worst sort are committed against the Church and people. Not even the monuments and treasures of the country are spared. Cathedrals and castles centuries old, a part of the people, are destroyed."

Father Turco

Two Factions

The conflict in Spain, it was stated, lies between the two factions, bolshevism and the reactionaries. The latter group is made up of facism, conservatism, and the Catholic party. If Franco, leader of the reactionaries, should gain a victory, facism would undoubtedly be established, Father Turco further remarked, since this group has the support of both Italy and Germany.

No Reproach

"There should be no reproach," Father Turco emphatically stated, "of this support. It is an act of humanity to destroy bolshevism which itself destroys everything of ultimate value."

Intervention Possible

Asked as to the possibilities of intervention, he stated, "Italy would intervene in Spain but the atttitude of England is opposed to such a move. There is so much jealousy among all the nations that intervention is practically impossible. England fears bolshevism greatly, but the relations between the two being what they are, England favors a 'waiting' policy."

Political Storm In France

Public opinion in France, Father Turco revealed, is already divided concerning Spain. Socialist Blum premier, favors bolshevism, but much oposition has been raised against it. "Definitely," he stated, "a political storm is brewing and ready to break in France." Already the banks of England are overflowing with French gold, it was further revealed, and the business leaders of France are preparing for serious trouble.

"Although bolshevism will no

New Intramural Sports Manager To Be Elected

Resignation of Lew Baysinger Accepted by Alioto Wednesday

With the inauguration of intramural softball only a short time away, the announcement was made this week that Lew Baysinger, who was elected last semester to the post of intramural sports manager, has handed in his resignation in order to accept the post of head baseball manager next spring.

On returning to school after the summer vacation, Baysinger was informed of his new position. The resignation was handed to President Joe Alioto and accepted Wednesday. Alioto will take immediate action on the matter, and a new intramural sports manager will be elected at the first meeting of the associated students, he said.

Former Assistant Manager

Baysinger, who is a junior, worked as assistant manager under John McGrath, and accepts the post as a person who knows the "ins" and "outs" of the managerial game.

The new intramural manager, when he is elected, will have the task of organizing the softball league, which begins shortly, and the football league, which gets under way in October.

All men attending Saint Mary's who have purchased a student body card and who have not been awarded a numeral are eligible to compete. It is urged by President Alioto that everyone who can participate should do so. Games will be held after school at 3 o'clock, probably on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Frosh Begin Practice Drills

Meister to Aid Underhill With Yearlings

Holding the initial workout of the season under the watchful eye of Coach Jimmy Underhill, the most promising frosh squad of recent years began preparation for the coming gridiron campaign this week.

Each year Underhill is faced with the problem of making a smooth working unit out of a squad that is composed of men who have played under several different systems. Aiding him in schooling the first year men in the intricacies of the Notre Dame system as practiced by Slip Madigan, will be Herm Meister, giant tackle on the varsity squad for the past three years. The genial Meister will assist Underhill in the capacity of line coach and should be especially valuable in the coaching of the ends and tackles.

New Games Scheduled

Featuring the schedule of the yearlings will be the annual game with the boys from the Mission. Sharing in the spotlight will be games with Salinas J. C., a new game on the schedule, to be followed by games with U. S. F., Humboldt State, San Mateo and College of the Pacific.

The last named game will be played on Agnon Field and will be somewhat of a grudge match as the first year men lost their only decision to the Staggmen last season. The Humboldt, San Mateo and Salinas games will be played on their grounds, while the others will be played at Kezar Stadium.

Maurice (Red) Liston, a Texan whose attire is strictly in accordance with the latest styles, is quite an ambitious member of the Temple University football squad.

A right guard for two years, Liston, a resident of Fort Worth, has asked Line Coach Fred Swan to permit him to learn both the right and left guard assignments.

Underhill Answers Patrick's Charges

Entering the controversy between Jack Patrick, former president of the Northern California Football Association, and San Francisco prep grid mentors, Jimmy Underhill yesterday literally fired a bombshell and answered the charges of Patrick that "most high school coaches are rated as incompetent officials."

Underhill, umpire of the Balboa-Saint Mary's prep game which ended in a riot in San Francisco last Saturday afternoon, and which was cited as an example by Patrick of incompetency, demanded of Patrick:

"What did he want the officials to do in that game?" questioned the Gael coach. "It is the duty of the officials to control the game—not the fans. And that's what we did! Five thousand fans jammed the bleacher seats and another thousand or more forced their way to the field. Several times we were compelled to halt the game until the fans along the sidelines were driven back. We stopped the game with one minute left to play because we believed that was the only thing to do under the circumstances."

Patrick Cites Example

Patrick assertedly stated earlier in the week:

"Already we have had a classic example of the so-called good officiating of the schoolmen—headlines on the front page telling of how the Balboa-Saint Mary's game ended in a riot, with 5,000 fans swinging wildly at each other and the game was never finished.

"Why? Chiefly because one of the officials in that game knew no more about officiating than any of the 5,000 fans who participated in the riot.

"He never has been a member of a recognized officials' association. He never has studied rules and he had no more business on the field than a high school freshman who never saw a football game."

Since Underhill and Ras Johnson, the referee of Saturday's game, are members of an officials' association, Alan Drady, headlinesman, who is believed to be no member of a recognized officials' group, must be the gentleman to whom Patrick alluded.

"Drady Is Competent"

"Drady is a competent official," declared Underhill. "There are many high school men who are on a par with Class A officials who work our college games.

"I think Patrick, a little warm over the Herb Dana-Bob Evans affair, spoke out of turn. He, himself, hasn't officiated at any college games and shouldn't talk."

Golden Avalanche To Play 3 Games at Home

Marquette University's 1935 Golden Avalanche football team will play but three games in the home stadium this fall but is booked for three more engagements within a 90-mile radius of Milwaukee.

The home games will be played with Kansas State, October 17; Michigan State, October 24, and Mississippi, November 14.

In addition, the Hilltoppers will engage Wisconsin at Madison, October 3; St. Louis University at Soldier Field, Chicago, October 10, and Saint Mary's at Soldier's Field, Friday, October 30.

Games farther away from home will be played with Creighton at Omaha, Novmeber 7, and with Duquesne at Pittsburgh, November 21.

Injuries Keep Gael Stars Out of Lineup

Wag Jorgensen, who was placed ahead of Gomer Jones in the All-Star lineup several days ago, was unable to play in the game Wednesday night because of a painful groin injury. He was considered to be the best of all pivot men in the country although he did not make the official All-American team.

Eddie Erdelatz also was forced out of the game due to the injury of his knee. It was in 1935 that Erdelatz's knee was first put on the blink. A week ago the old injury reoccurred and rendered Erdelatz incapable of playing.

SMALL TOWN BOYS

Very few members of the Temple University football squad live in large cities or towns. Such places as Williamstown, Pa.; Mt. Lebanon, Pa.; Delanson, N. Y., and Wyatt, La., which are off the beaten path, are providing Pop Warner with football material. Temple, an urban university with 12,000 enrollment, has but six football candidates from Philadelphia.

But Golden Bears, Rams and Avalanche Will Be Toughest Opponents

"St. Mary's fears no one!"

Slip Madigan is the author for this mighty statement. This is Madigan's third startling announcement of the season. Recently the Gael mentor went on record as predicting that California is the team to beat and he'll be satisfied if the Gaels do not lose more than two games.

Slip made this third declaration in an exclusive interview with the Collegian, however, with one reservation:

"California, Fordham and Marquette will be our strongest opponents."

By HENRY NUETZEL

With the opening of football practise set for next Thursday, Slip Madigan is rather dubious as to what the football season will develop here on the campus. At the University of California, Stub Allison has declared that his Golden Bears fear no one.

Slip and his cohorts, Red Strader and Eddie Erdelatz, will drive their varsity charges through two weeks of hard practice and scrimmage for their opener with the Gonzaga Bulldogs.

Ten Games Billed

The Gaels will have ten consecutive games to play this season. Beginning with Gonzaga on September 27, the Valley Gallopers on successive week ends—with one exception—tackle California, Loyola, the University of San Francisco, Fordham, Marquette, Idaho, Santa Clara, College of the Pacific and Temple. A two weeks' rest will be had between the Santa Clara and Pacific games.

Pop Warner, head coach at Temple University, allegedly has said that the success of his season depends upon whether or not the Owls defeat Madigan's Marauding Moragans. Other coaches have made similar statements. Thus, with almost every one of the 10 teams on the Gael schedule pointing for Saint Mary's, it looks as if all the games will be billed as "crucial."

If the Gaels beat California, Fordham and Marquette in the first half of their slate, Saint Mary's should enjoy one of the best seasons of her gridiron history.

Over Track Controversy

* * * *

Says Underhill

Jimmy Underhill, Gael track mentor, refuses to enter the current controversy over the alleged mishandling of United States athletes by the A. A. U. during the Olympic Games held in Berlin this summer.

Although confessing that he did not wish to commit himself because he was unfamiliar with the facts surrounding the dispute, Underhill did say "the situation is a delicate one but undoubtedly there is some room for complaint."

Whether or not the A. A. U. executive committee should be overhauled and put into the hands of the colleges, Underhill would not say.

San Franciscans Top Bear Varsity Eleven

The San Francisco Bay region leads the state in contributing potential football players at the University of California.

Thirty-six of the ninty-eight gridders signing up for fall football practice give the bay area as their home. Los Angeles county contributes 24 players.

San Bernardino county has 6; Orange county, 4; with 3 each from San Diego, Kern and Siskiyou counties. Two each are registered from Santa Barbara and San Joaquin, with one each from Solano, Kings, Santa Clara, Merced, Fresno, Monterey, Tulare, San Luis Obispo, Colusa and Sonoma counties. Out-of-state entrants are from Wisconsin, Colorado and Arizona, with two from Portland, Oregon.

By taking total heights, weights and ages of all players and dividing by the number of players, the average varsity prospect is shown to be 20½ years old, 5 feet 11 inches in height, and weighs 181 pounds.

GAEL GOSSIP

By BILL BETTENCOURT
(Sports Editor The Collegian)

ST. MARY'S VS. VILLANOVA IN 1937?

"Certainly found it difficult to leave the incomparable bay area. But unsuccess forces one to do most anything. Perhaps I can assemble a group of steel workers and journey westward with the idea of pouring it on the MORAGA MARAUDERS. Would like to schedule such a contest as soon as I get my feet on the ground here."

The author of the above excerpt of a letter to an Oakland scribe is, as you already may have guessed, "Clipper" Smith —remember?

It is our opinion that the new Villanova pilot will have his ambition realized soon. We wouldn't be surprised if "Maurice the Morose" brought his squad to the coast next season for a little tete-a-tete with the Valley Gallopers.

A home-and-home agreement between the two colleges would add another annual big game to the grid slate of "Slip" Madigan's Valley Gang.

GAELS KEEP THEIR WORD!

Next Thursday afternoon, September 10, Saint Mary's football teams, varsity and freshmen, will join the members of the Pacific Coast conference in opening the 1936 gridiron season.

Although "frozen out" by the Big Eight, and slated to meet only California of the select group, the Gaels, as they have done for so many years, again abide by conference rules—to the letter.

After two short weeks of practice, the Galloping Goidels tackle the Gonzaga Bulldogs, Bing Crosby's alma mater, in one of the toughest gridiron "baptisms of fire" on the coast.

SEE COACHES MADIGAN OR UNDERHILL

To college every year come hopeful students. Among these are athletes with great prep reputations. They sign up for freshmen athletics. They see four great years ahead of them.

Too, there are those first-year lads who, although they played little, if any, sports in high school, inwardly believe that they probably could make a good showing if they signed up for a yearling sport. But they are afraid. Why? There are many reasons!

If these lads are physically fit, can afford the time, and really wish to represent Saint Mary's in athletics, they are invited to see some one in the athletic office at once.

Aspirants for posts on the freshmen eleven are requested to see Coaches "Slip" Madigan or Jimmy Underhill immediately.

PREP ATHLETIC REPUTATIONS DON'T MEAN ANYTHING IN COLLEGE!

Vic Strub, varsity end, never played football in high school. Many similar cases have been reported at U. C. and other colleges and universities.

Who knows? Perhaps among our shy and backward yearling group are several future Gael stars. Let's snap out of it! Today's the time to act. Drop into the athletic office this afternoon!

BILL SMITH HITS NEW CONFERENCE SET-UP

While covering our daily beat yesterday, we picked up the following from Graduate Manager Bill (Scoop) Smith's office. Grab yourself a chair and listen:

"I have my doubts how the new conference set-up is going to work out," says Smith. "I'll give it two years to last on the conditions that the powers that be will change their plans should they see the error of their ways.

"Whether they like it or not," he continues, "the Pacific Coast Conference schools still are playing football to make money. It's a very big business, round-robin schedules or not. I doubt if their games will draw like they formerly did. If they don't, then gate receipts will fall off. And so will business."

"When that happens," concludes Smith, "there's only one thing to do —go into football again to make money and not to play round-robin schedules."

RECEIVED—REFERENCE BROCHURE

Received in the mail this week was "A Reference Brochure for Sports Writers" from Fordham University. After glancing through it, we believe it to be the best ever printed by any college.

It would seem that Fordham anticipates a very successful season—financially speaking. No little money was spent in printing the neat and interesting reference booklet.

It has this to say about Saint Mary's:

"Year in and year out the Galloping Gaels of Slip Madigan put on a more colorful and effective show than any other intersectional visitor to the Atlantic seaboard. What football addict can forget Angel Brovelli, Mike Steponovich, George "Ice House" Wilson, Harry "The Horse" Mattos, Eddie Erdelatz, Al Nichelini and Herb Schreiber, not to mention the colorful uniforms and dazzling "Balboa" shifts of the Gaels?

"Probably the most publicized football team in the nation, the Mad Moragans have inevitably lived up to their advance notices in New York. Three times they have over-powered the Maroon, last year's game ended in a 7-7 deadlock, and once Fordham won, 14-0, in 1932. Coach Madigan has announced that he is pointing for two games this autumn, the contest with California on October 3, and the Fordham meeting on October 24."

COGITATIONS WHILE WATCHING THE GRIDDERS

Cogitations while watching the varsity gridders run around Lake La Salle yesterday—

BILL GLEASON led the squad around the lake by more than 50 yards . . . . DON MILLER was second, FRANK FREITAS was third and RALPH JACK was fourth . . . . the rest of the team was more than 75 yards behind Jack . . . . ED McSWEENY, former secretary to Slip Madigan, is now employed with the insurance firm of Johnson and Murphy in San Francisco . . . . one San Francisco scribe picks Saint Mary's as "the team to beat" this season . . . . He says he disagrees with Madigan's statement which appeared exclusively in the Collegian last week: "CALIFORNIA is the team to beat."

Last Year Men Nose Out Sophs By Five Points

Freshmen Place Third While Juniors Finish In Last Place

Ending their college career with three wins in four starts in the traditional swim meet that is held yearly before the freshmen and sophomores "go to it" in their brawl, the class of '37, present seniors, yesterday walked off with swimming laurels by amassing a grand total of 34 points.

Finishing in a surprising close second, due primarily to the diving profiency of second-year man O'Neal, the sophomore group ended totaling 29 points to their credit.

Ambitious frosh who were looked upon to defeat their traditional rivals, could tally no more than 15 points and were trailed by the juniors, who, it was clandestinely rumored, tried to end the meet without scoring a point, but who were defeated by the yeomanly courageous paddling, sidestroking and backstroking of Jim Franey, who finished an exhaustive third in the 200-yard relay to break his class into the tally column with one pointer.

Juniors Are Fourth

Standout event of the day came at the end in the 120-yard free style relay, when the sophomores were disqualified because Mike O'Rourke jumped the gun in the anchor lap, consequently costing the sophomores a tie with the seniors in the meet.

Cries of "Fake, fake," were hurled at the sterling Block SM men who handled the meet and who judged events, but their decision was final and the meet ended with the sophomores being penalized, in spite of vigorous class opposition.

Outstanding back-stroker of the day was sophomore Cahalon from Washington, who easily outclassed the frosh Reed and the senior O'Laughlin to win the 30-yard backstroke in handy time. Cahalon also gained many yards for his class in the medley relay which was winningly anchored by O'Rourke in a close finish with senior Don Miller, who had to finish the race under too great a handicap.

In the 100-yard free style, Miller of the seniors again performed creditably, winning by two yards over freshman Julian. Sophomore Hester garnered one point for his class in this event.

30,000 Ticket Applications Leave Graduate Manager's Office Today For California, U. S. F. Games

Business in the graduate manager's office is climbing to a new high these days with Bill Smith and has staff working at a fever pitch. Approximately 30,000 ticket applications for the California and U. S. F. games will leave in the mail today, destined to gladden the hearts of many a Gael fan.

With checks and money orders pouring in daily, it is expected that gate receipts will be much higher than in many years previous.

Adding a note of interest to the regular business, and likewise stimulating activities in the office, is the steady demand for reservations piling in from New York, Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia and other large eastern cities.

Foresight Is Seen

The foresight of Gael eastern friends can be seen in the fact that these reservations are for games many days in the future, when Saint Mary's meets Fordham on October 24, and Marquette at Soldiers' Field, Chicago, on the night of October 3rd.

Smith and his three assistants recruited ten members of the frosh squad who rather reluctantly extended a helping hand the other night. The boys did a good job, Smith says, and in a short time had everything stacked neatly. "Slip" is hoping that they will carry on and stack up the points for alma mater.

NEW GAEL CENTER

Ken Hardy, all conference center from Marin Junior College, has decided to complete his college career at Saint Mary's. Hardy, who weighs 195 pounds and is six feet tall, will bolster up the center of the Gael forward wall considerably. Madigan will welcome this addition and will be three deep at this position, and if any injury should befall the three men, Conlee can be shifted over from his guard position to fill in the gap at center.

MAXIE BAER GETS FOOLED

It is stated that Max Adelbert Baer, the champion clown of the Twentieth Century, always believed that there was one thousand per cent of stock to be sold on his fighting ability. In so believing he sold ninety-two per cent, and found after attending school that he owned eight per cent of himself.

He later bought it back!

DEAD MAN WINS GAME

In the early days of baseball, or batball as it was then called, a dead man scored a run to win a ball game.

It happened that a pitcher of the opposing team hit a single, and the batter following drove a ball over the fence. After rounding third base, the pitcher fell to the ground. The man following picked him up and carried him across the home plate.

The pitcher had died of heart failure.

KELLEHER HITS AT .377 CLIP

Franie Kelleher, one of the greatest baseball players ever to don a Phoenix uniform, is now playing with Akron in the Mid-Atlantic league, and from latest reports is hitting at a .377 clip.

It is our prediction, along with many of the baseball scouts, that Kelleher in a few years will reach the "big time."

BULLDOGS SET FOR "MAD MEN"

The Gonzaga Bulldogs, who this year open their season against the Gaels, have one of the most outstanding teams of the north. Ten regulars from last year have reported back, and they really intend to trounce the "Mad Men" from Moraga, it is rumored.

Art Instructor Paints Scenes During Summer

Completing twenty-five paintings, comprising three separate series, was but one part of the work accomplished by Brother Cornelius during the summer. In conjunction with his painting of scenes throughout California, he continued work on the biography of William Keith, well known California artist.

The three series of his work are the Russian River group, the Donner Lake group and the King's River Canyon group. Visitors who have passed through the exhibition of Brother Cornelius' summer work have commented particularly on the painting of the Armstrong Grove of the Russian River series and a painting of Donner Lake of the Donner Lake group.

Paints Old Mission

While at Carmel in pursuit of information about the life of William Keith, Brother Cornelius painted the interior of the old Mission San Carlos and contacted several persons who were acquainted with the artist. Among the persons he interviewed for material were Carlos Hittell, son of the famous historian, Theodore Hittell, Charles Erskine Scott Wood of The Casa at Los Gatos and Mrs. A. Daniels of Santa Cruz, a former pupil of Keith.

Much Time In Sierras

Traveling with a sleeping bag and equipment weighing about 25 pounds slung across his back, Brother Cornelius roamed through the Sierras for days at a time. He spent most of his time in the region of Donner Lake and Kern county, and later made a trip to Ogden, Utah, where Keith had made many paintings.

While in Kern county, he made a side trip to the summit of Mt. Whitney and painted the scene at the summit. He also completed a painting which showed Mt. Keith in the distance, the mountain being named after the artist, who did much of his work in that vicinity.

Visits Fair

After a few days in Sequoia National Park, Brother Cornelius continued to San Diego, where he inspected the Saint Mary's booth at the exposition. On his way back, he visited Mission San Luis Rey and Pala Mission.

Motorists Warned to Slow Down at Night

Here is some worth-while advice to motorists: As soon as darkness descends, slow down pronto!

In spite of the fact that the bulk of cars are operated almost entirely during the day, well over half of all the fatal accidents last year occurred at night. Sixty-nine per cent of the victims were pedestrians. And the death rate for the evening rush hours was over 100 per cent greater in winter than in summer, due to darkness.

Unconsciously or otherwise, many motorists chronically "overdrive their headlights"—that is, they could not bring their cars to a stop within the illuminated distance before them. And more powerful lights are no cure for this—they produce glare, a potent cause of head-on car crashes, and are justly illegal in most states.

The pedestrian, of course, is not wholly free from blame. It has been extensively publicized that one should always walk on the left side of the highway, facing oncoming traffic—but a great many night-walkers apparently haven't heard the news yet. And many of them don't seem to realize that to walk on a dark highway wearing dark clothes is an invitation to the coroner. Light reflection is an eccentric thing—and a darkly-dressed pedestrian often can't be seen by the motorist until it is too late.

Thus, we need education for the pedestrian as well as for the auto driver. But in the meantime, the driver should take every precaution—and even go to what may seem ridiculous lengths—to operate his car safely. After all, he is in command of a potentially lethal victim that literally kills more men than war does. Don't take a chance!

F. D. R. Jr. Pinch Hits For Sleeping Father

JAMESTOWN, N. D. (NWS) — It was early morning when the President's special train rolled through this town and Mr. Roosevelt was asleep. But "F. D., Jr." appeared on the rear platform with a homey message for the waiting crowd: "The old man is sorry he can't come out now, but he will be through here again tomorrow morning and he'll come out and see you then." At Des Moines the President ended his study of the drought area with a conference of governors, including Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, his Republican opponent.

Saint Mary's Club

Membership Drive—Frankly, we are not much of a hand to "point with pride." We have no prejudice against it as such for many of our men are of that turn of mind, and very nice fellows they are, too. But the response to this column's plea for new members has practically forced us to join up.

We do this in no spirit of boasting, but simply to show those of you who, as yet. have not warmed up, the loyal members and Go-Getters of the first degree—who send us off to a flying start.

Inasmuch as most of us enjoy a little friendly rivalry, don't you think it would be a good idea to have a little contest during the month of September?

Here's our plan. For every new application, 10 points will be awarded; for applications secured by the membership committee from your list of prospects, 6 points.

Here are the comparative standings of members so far reported:

"Happy Kennedy" Leads With 117 Points!

Name	Points
J. Vincent Kennedy	117
Dr. D. A. Murphy	116
Henry J. Maritzen	112
Clarence Roney	96
W. W. Blood	50
Fred G. Adams	42
Thomas F. Kennedy	36
George Callan	32
Ray Newford	20
W. E. Thomson	20

And 10 points each to: Emmet Dillon. James Roney, T. J. Mellott, Bernard Arrellano, T. M. Rowland, Ownie Doherty, Armand Wright, Daniel Dee, C. M. Mihan, Archie MacDonald, M. R. Murphy, P. J. Halloran, John E. Kenny, Joseph McElligott, William Cullen. Joseph Erdelatz, Nicholas Erdelatz, Dan De Bonis, and Joseph F. Fitzgerald.

Since the last issue of the Collegian, a great many of you men have mailed in your lists of prospective members. Fine. If you haven't sent yours in—do it now. Remember, just ONE applicant, either signed by yourself or the membership committee enables you to participate in the big ticket pool for "Get a member and sit in the press box."

Clubable — Hello to Art P. Whelan way down in Tulare, who sends his dues and asks about the Fordham Special . . . and . . . Frank Frayne in Ukiah for his application . . . Ira Gates in Portland, Oregon . . . and back in the Big Town, Joseph A. Doebal . . . far away all of them . . . but awfully close in spirit.

Fred Adams promises leather coverings for magazines . . . the Club's gift to the college library . . . if you know Fred you're not surprised . . . or that Joe Noonan had the weather-beaten flag-pole on the campus painted . . . belated recognition, but we just remembered.

Emmet Lynch will be aboard the Fordham Special as a guest of the Chronicle . . . needs a few more subscriptions, but he will get them . . . Joe Fitzgerald and Dan Maher will be on hand, as always, and other Clubmen, too . . . Now if Max Podelich will give us the list we will put it to good use . . . publish the names of members having signed, and cull it for prospects . . . where could we find a sweeter lead?

Thanks to Ed. Jones for that nice gesture to the membership committee . . . President Charles Barry, and Treasurer Doc Murphy say thanks again for that bay cruise on your swanky cabin cruiser . . . said you and Frank are good sailors . . . but it was the enchiladas they ate before going aboard!!!

From Benicia come Judge John J. O'Grady. Frank Hoffman, Daniel P. McLaughlin. Charles R. Pometta, and Vincent J. Corcoran . . . all new members sponsored by Clarence Roney . . . nice work . . . welcome Men of Benicia. . . . . .

Sacramento River Towns Teem with Gael Rooters . . . new member John McGrath of Walnut Grove is our authority . . . says residents choose Gael-Bronc annual as their Big Game . . . O. K. John, sounds like fertile soil for new members . . . as a farmer you know how to take care of THAT.

Timely Topics — Don't wait till the deadline before returning your ticket applications . . . promptness rates preference over he who dallies . . . all seats will be good . . . naturally . . . but the first come will have a "down" or two the better of it . . don't say we didn't warn you.

To Bill Smith, alert Graduate Manager . . . many thanks for the cooperation . . and to long-time member W. W. Blood . . . if you will write to Bill and explain that California tangle of last year . . . he will take care of you

This is the second of 33 issues of the Collegian to go out to all members during the year . . . It's mailed Friday afternoon and puts in an appearance Saturday or Monday . . . if you don't receive . . . write us at P. O. Box 327, San Francisco, instanter!

Sermon—We lifted the following from the DIPLOMATE, and pass it along as a bit of advice worth remembering:

"HOW TO KILL A SOCIETY"

1. Don't come to meetings. If you do come, come late.

2. If the weather doesn't suit you, don't think of coming.

3. If you do attend a meeting, find fault with the work of the officers and other members.

4. Never accept office, as it is easier to criticize than do things. Nevertheless, get sore if you are not appointed to a committee; but if you are, do not attend the committee meetings.

5. If asked by the chairman to give your opinion regarding some important matter, tell him you have nothing to say.

6. After the meeting, tell everyone how things ought to be done.

7. Do nothing more than absolutely necessary, but when other members roll up their sleeves and willingly and unselfishly use their ability to help matters along, howl that the organization is being run by a clique.

8. Hold back your dues as long as possible; or don't pay at all.

9. Don't bother about getting new members; let George do it.

Are you listenin'?

Naval Reserve Offers Training

Training leading to a commission in the aviation branch of the U. S. Naval Reserve, is available to graduates of any recognized colleges or universities and to undergraduates of such schools who have received their junior certificates, according to a recently issued naval bulletin.

The applicants must be mentally morally, physically, and phychologically qualified for flying and in addition, must have a thorough knowledge of mathematics, including plane and solid geometry, plane trigonometry and higher algebra.

Eligible For Commission

Aviation cadets, shall, if qualified, be eligible for commission in the Naval Reserve after the completion of their period of active duty, which shall be of four years duration. The first year of duty shall be spent in flight training at Pensacola, Florida, after which the cadet shall be assigned to active duty aboard ship or at a station.

In addition to their pay, which consists of $75.00 per month, while undergoing training, and $125.00 per month while on active duty, the cadets shall receive a lump sum of $1500 upon their release from active duty of four years or more.

Bar Association Kills Committee Opinion

BOSTON, Mass. (NWS)—More than three thousand lawyers attended the 59th Annual Convention of the American Bar Association, and shelved a 4 to 3 opinion of its special New Deal Committee, the majority of which found "there is no indication that the administration recognized any obligations to protect the individual citizen in his constitutional rights," a decision which the majority dubbed "a short range attack on surface trivialties." Frederick H. Stinchfield, a Minneapolis Liberty League member, was elected president.

Nine Minors In Sing Sing Condemned Row

OSSINGING, N. Y. (NWS) — Prison authorities are concerned over the fact that of 22 prisoners under sentence of death at Sing Sing, nine are under 21 years of age. Two are 17, four are 18, one is 19 and the remaining two are 20.

Initial Rehearsal Of Band Indicates Successful Season

Beginning work for the fall semester, the band held its first rehearsal last Sunday on the campus in the college dining hall.

While some time was spent in practicing a number of concert compositions, most of the afternoon rehearsal was devoted to a preparation of novelty number and popular tunes for the football season, and the day, according to Joe McTigue, manager of the band, proved to be the best opening practice in the history of the band.

Approximately 75 of the now present 100 men on the band roster were in attendance. McTigue pointed out that the band is at full strength with the present number of men, but openings will be made for any additional students that may wish to join.

In outlining the program for the band for the coming football season, the band manager said that the group will continue on from where they left off at the close of the last season. "The college musicians will have a varied program of college tunes, the usual marches, more novelty and stunt numbers, and many new popular tunes," said McTigue, and added that the band will certainly continue to play its after-the-game concerts that were so popular with the fans last year.

Few changes have been made in the personnel of the organization as 95 percent of last year's group have returned this year, and with the additional rehearsals planned for the campus and in Oakland, the band expects to be ready with a good show for the opening of the season next month.

Officers of the band for the coming year are approximately the same as those serving during the last, with Howard Tressel directing, Lew Dering serving as Assistant Director, Charles Larsen, Arthur Soares, and Robert Williams, Drum Majors, and Joe McTigue, Manager.

Quarterly Aided By Saint Mary's Club

When the report was made last spring by Professor James Hagerty that, because of financial difficulties it would be impossible to continue the edition of the Moraga Quarterly, the Saint Mary's Club rallied to its support with the result that one hundred dollars has been raised in order that the publication might continue.

The sum was raised through subscriptions which were distdibuted among friends of the college and to those places where the publication would do the most good.

All details were handled by Mr. Frank Schmidt of the club and Mr. William Lowery of the Alumni Association.

Social Committee To Hold First Meeting

With Brother Patrick presiding as chairman of the group, the Social Committee will hold its first meeting of the year this noon. The business of the day will be the considering of dates and arrangements for college social events to be held in the near future both on and off the campus.

Alumni Notes

REVISED MEMBERSHIP LIST

The Alumni Association, through its secretary, C. Wesley Davis, has undertaken the huge task of compiling a new and exact membership list. As it has been several years since an accurate check was made, it has been found that in many instances the addresses were incorrect.

Under the new plan a steel stencil will be made for each member giving his last known address. The success of this plan depends largely upon the cooperation of the members, as it is almost impossible to obtain accurate information from other sources.

ANNUAL DUES

Dues for the year 1936-37 are now payable. Through the cooperation of the Board of Athletic Control and of Graduate Manager Bill Smith, detailed plans have been made to assure the active members preferential seats to all football contests.

In order to secure this preference for the California-Saint Mary's game you must be listed as an active members before the closing date for ticket applications.

The test of an active member, of course, is the payment of annual dues.

Make your check payable to the Saint Mary's Alumni Association, Saint Mary's College, Saint Mary's, California, in order to be assured of a choice seat to this traditional contest.

FOOTBALL LUNCHEONS

Before many moons the air will respond with the thud of leather against leather and another football season will be in full sway. Following its annual custom, the Alumni Association will introduce the season with a luncheon at which speakers will acquaint the members with the team's prospects for the coming year.

The first luncheon will be held in Oakland on Monday, September 14.

The following day, Tuesday, September 15, the Alumni Association will unite with the Saint Mary's Club in a luncheon to be held in San Francisco. Among the speakers will be Coach "Slip" Madigan and Graduate Manager Bill Smith.

NEW RECORDING SECRETARY

Peter Markovich '33 has been appointed to the office of Recording Secretary of the Alumni Association to fill the vacancy caused by the death of John Friedman '32. Pete is a graduate of the School of Arts and Letters and has been actively engaged in the field of politics in San Mateo county since his graduation.

College Names Two Campus Officials

Two important appointments in responsible campus offices were made this summer by Brother Albert, president. Thomas J. Foudy, a graduate of the class of '35, accepted the position of Director of Publicity, a post recently vacated by Bob McAndrews, who resigned to devote more time to his NBC broadcasting work.

Foudy gained invaluable experience through his work on the Collegian and the Oakland Tribune. In this new role, he will handle all academic and athletic publicity of the college.

Assuming the position of Graduate Manager is William J. Smith, president of last year's student body. Smith will have complete charge of the ticket situation and will be ably assisted by three students, two of whom have already been named.

Other duties attached to this important office include arrangements for students employment at the football games and the drawing up of game schedules.

RECENT ELECTIONS

Results of the state primary election discloses that at least two of our members were successful at the polls. Timothy J. Canty '23 and James T. Davis '31 were both elected to the State Democratic County Committee.

George P. Miller '12, won the Democratic nomination for Assemblyman for the fourteenth district. He was graduated a civil engineer. He will have to run again in the general election in November with the Republican nominee. Giles Miller, also a graduate of Saint Mray's is a brother of George.

ANGLIM APPOINTED

Cliff Anglim '28, district director of FHA, has received the signal honor of being appointed state chairman of the Roosevelt campaign committee of the Democratic party. Cliff is a former state senator from Richmond and enjoys the reputation of being one of our finest silver-tongued orators.

Out of a field of 17, Tim Canty, former Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association, came in first. In fifth position was Wallace Colthurst, also an alumnus of the college. Seven were elected to the committee.

McCord Trial Is Set for October 6

Mrs. Ruth McCord, former social service bureau head of Contra Costa county, will go to trial October 6 before a jury in Martinez on a charge she submitted to the county for payment of a false claim for $69. Judge T. D. Johnson set the time when Mrs. McCord appeared in court Monday afternoon.

Mrs. McCord testified at the first trial that she had lost the $69 in endeavoring to dispose of jewels for Mrs. Ida Jackson, 84, and she had submitted the claim to obtain reimbursement for transportation for Mrs. Jackson from Richmond to Colorado.

Mrs. McCord was granted a new trial by Superior Judge A. F. Bray. The ruling was sustained by the appellate court on an appeal taken by District Attorney Francis Healey.

Mrs. McCord is being represented by Attorneys Thomas Carlson of Richmond, Ralph Wight of Martinez and Robert Collins.

Redwood Canyon Rd. To Be Paved, Widened

Plans have been recently completed for the paving and widening of the new Redwood Canyon road to Oakland, it was recently announced by Supervisor H. L. Cummings.

The Canyon road, it was stated, will be completely paved and improved within the next six weeks, thus enabling Saint Mary's students to escape the traffic congestion on the Claremont road.

At the same time a statement issued by the Canyon Community Council requested the college students to exercise caution when driving through the canyon while the road work is in progress.

With the completion of the present work, students will be afforded a faster and shorter route to Oakland.

Lafayette Fiesta Draws Big Crowd

Due to the tremendous success of the second annual Lafayette Fiesta de '49 held in that town Saturday and Sunday, plans are already being made for the third annual affair, Charles Shuey of Berkeley, manager, declared.

Approximately 4000 persons from all parts of the county and the bay area witnessed the final competition of thoroughbreds held in the new arena Sunday afternoon. The Fiesta de '49 and dance held the night before was attended by thousands, it was stated.

New State Hospital Every Four Years Is State's Requirement

A building program providing a new state mental hospital every four years is necessary to keep pace with the current rate of commitments, it is estimated by Harry Lutgens, state director of institutions.

The constantly increasing number of patients in the state institutions has resulted in serious overcrowding, according to state records.

"The resident population of the mental hospitals increased from 19,614 to 20,105 during the first six months of 1936, a total increase of 491," Lutgens stated.

"To meet this dangerously overcrowded condition, Governor Frank E. Merriam, at the last session of the legislature, approved an appropriation of approximately $4,000,000 for the construction of new ward buildings at state institutions, including the new hospital to be opened at Camarillo on October 1, 1936," Lutgens explained.

'This building program is well under way, but when it is completed there still will be an excess population of approximately 3,000 patients."

On the basis of current needs, a new building program will be submitted to the 1937 legislature, officials indicated. It was considered possible some demand would be made for an institution in which the criminally insane could be segregated.

Drivers Licenses To Be Issued Mondays by State Man in W.C.

E. M. Pollock, examiner of the division of drivers' licenses of the State Motor Vehicle Bureau, has announced that he will issue all drivers' licenses in Contra Costa county and that they will not be issued by the Highway Patrol office.

Pollock stated that he will be in Walnut Creek Monday mornings and in Pittsburg Monday afternoons.

Tuesday mornings he will spend in Brentwood and Tuesday afternoons in Antioch. Wednesday and Thursday will be devoted to the highway patrol office in Martinez and Friday and Saturday to Richmond.

Operators' and chauffeurs' licenses and duplicates will be issued by Pollock.

Intervention in Spain Necessary Says Instructor

Diplomatic Jealousy Hinders Peace Settlement In Spain at Present

take hold in France, much damage can, and will, be done. Russia, in spite of pacific utterances, is sending much aid to the bolshevists of Spain and France, and the other nations will not, or cannot, take any action," he said further.

Intervention Necessary

Father Turco, in conclusion, stated most emphatically that intervention was necessary. Destruction of their own people, monuments, and art is turning Spain into a shambles. The people are destroying themselves while the Catholic church receives the brunt of the bolshevist attack. "The church is always the first to be attacked, yet it favors no government. There is no reason for the persecution, but the members of the church pay for the political experiments," he said.

Commenting upon the indignities suffered and the conditions existing, Father Turco further expressed the dire need for foreign intervention. "The law of non-intervention," he said, "does not mean that we should forget that we are human beings. Diplomatic jealousy should not be allowed to prevent such a move."

Fisticuffs Climax Frosh-Soph Tussle

As a climax to a day of swimming, track events, and brawling, fisticuffs were enjoyed in the evening by the various members of the student body. The punch-fest held in Madigan gym was run off smoothly, and with very few faked battles. At least, they were less obvious about it than in times past.

Opening the festivities were "Black Mike" Perry, sophomore, and Don Miller, senior, the nod going to Perry after both boys had hit the tanbark for rather lengthy counts. The first came Don's way in the shape of a right to the jaw, while Perry got his in the last round by a blow to the side of the head.

Following this event was a grunt and groan act, the players being Jack Crampton, frosh, pitting his strength against that of Ralph Jack, sophomore. The event went to the yearling with a fall in four minutes. The bout was level.

Jack Williams, second year man, pushed the fight to HiHo Kenny, senior, and took the decision. The bout was favorably received, it was reported.

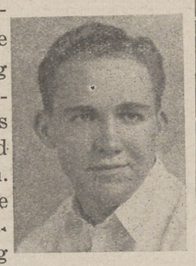
The prize of the evening was the battle between Cantwell, soph, and Peterson, frosh. Cantwell's dizzy and deceptive style was just too much for the freshman and he dropped the decision.

Jimmy Underhill kept the boys at it as referee, while Henry Hank Neutzel held the clock. Judges were Kordick, Wilkin and Skobye.

Senior Sketches

By LAURENCE MANA

Only under the condition that his character be unmarred and his name held high would the sketchee consent to the follownig article. So don't worry "Hi-ho"—only laudatory words can be spoken of your campus work.



No doubt you already know this prominent figure—John "Hi-ho" Kenny—the young curly-haired chap with the winning smile and pleasing personality. The student's choice for head yell-leader this he can surely manifest his leadership and give a good example of his sterling worth. Already he has outlined plans for the coming season and in all confidence stated, "I feel we will have the best rooting section in the history of Saint Mary's." Forceful words, those are, Hi-ho, but under your capable direction, you can achieve your goal.

The Anaconda Kid

But to start at the beginning, Hi-ho is another of our out-of-state boys, hailing from the "coppery" town of Anaconda in "the typical prairie state" of Montana. He lacks none of the provincial pride characteristic of his type for he talks of the Anaconda copper smelter which boasts of the largest smoke stack in the world. (What difference does it make, anyway?)

Incidentally, Hi-ho has been quite an ad for the college in his home town. Returning to school a few weeks ago, he brought back four promising freshmen who, seeing the wonderful change of Hi-ho in his three years here, decided to "bathe in the mineral springs" of Saint Mary's. Keep up the good work, Hi-ho.

Rally Committee Head

As head yell-leader he automatically becomes the head of the rally committee, which will be organized according to the standard of a few years ago and will definitely have duties, both here on the campus and at athletic events.

Hi-ho is also prominent in the Alpha Rho Omega and is one of the "hot-shots" in the kitchen because of his seniority. In the field of athletics, Hi-ho claims the title of lightweight champion boxer, although the point was disputed after one of the questionable decisions of last year. But on the level, Hi-ho is quite adept at the manly art of self-defense, according to the rules of Marquis of Queensbury, and can hold his own with any campus challenger.

Although Hi-ho majored in Engter graduation, but rather will step into an insurance position on the Great White Way—Broadway, New York.

"Local boy makes good in the big town"—in a few years the S. M. Collegian will be carrying the story. But why look into the future?

Wherever he goes, Hi-ho will always hold the name of Saint Mary's high and live up to the standard of Saint Mary's Men.

So Hi-ho, with due apologies for any under-estimation or objectionable features, which I believe will be nil, I take leave here to wish you the best of luck.

Two Students Make Retreat at Jesuit House in Los Altos

During the summer, Bob Waters, senior student, and Vic Wilkinmeyer, juniors, made the retreat at the Jesuit Retreat House in Los Altos, California. Both students were enthusiastic over their experience, it is said.

The retreat was headed by Leo Cunningham, President of the Saint Mary's Alumni Association, who is President of the Catholic Laymen's Retreat Association. Numbered among the men serving on the board of directors is Sylvian Andriano, also a former student of the college.

Local KC Council Welcomes Members

The campus council of the Knights of Columbus, Wednesday evening, welcomed two new members to its ranks, Vic Wilkiemeyer of Muskogee, Oklahoma Council, and Coley Vaughn, Anaconda, Montana, Council.

Among the formulation of other plans for progressive activities for the semester, the council resolved to get behind the retreat movement and appointed a committee of three to forward the program. The committee is composed of Vic Wilkiemeyer, chairman, Bob Waters and Brother Bede Edward.

DO YOU KNOW?

Two million persons visited the recreational facilities of the county during the last year, at an average cost of $1.00 each, says Jerry Gill of Marsh Springs, director of the Contra Costa County Development Association. This shows the importance of recreation as a county industry, one that should be further stimulated by the Development Association.

Bullitt Is Made Ambassador to France—Hitler Stirs Stalin to Talk of War—Secretary Dern Dies in Washington.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

© Western Newspaper Union.

TRANSFER of William C. Bullitt from the embassy in Moscow to that in Paris is not surprising. He it was who was chiefly responsible for the recognition of the Soviet government by the United States, and when he was rewarded with the ambassadorship it was expected he would be able to swing a lot of Russian business to American concerns. Also it was hoped he could persuade his Russian friends to keep their promises not to disturb this country with communist propaganda. In these respects at least Mr. Bullitt has been a disappointment But he retains the confidence of President Roosevelt and will not be out of place as ambassador to the leftist French government.

W. C. Bullitt.

Some observers think Mr. Bullitt is sent to Paris for the purpose of secretly sounding out the major European powers on the possibility of reconvening the world economic conference in 1937.

Jesse Isador Straus resigned as ambassador to France on the advice of his physicians. The President wrote him that "if this administration shall be continued for another four years, I shall count on your returning as a part of it."

REICHSFUEHRER HITLER has injected a little more ginger into the international armament race by suddenly announcing that the term for compulsory military service for Germans was doubled—two years instead of one. As matters are just now in Europe, this appeared to be aimed directly against soviet Russia, and if the London newspapers are to be believed, Dictator Stalin recognizes this and reacts as might be expected. The London Evening News and Daily Mail both assert that Stalin, in a secret radio address to the red army, said:

"Comrades of the red forces: We are on the very eve of momentous events. At any moment now you may be called upon to lay down your lives for the defense of the proletarian birthland.

"This is the moment you have been anticipating, and now your birthland is expecting you to do the duty you have so eagerly awaited.

"I have no doubts about you, and I am convinced you have no doubts about us, your leaders.

"Our enemies are getting into position. So be ready. The enemies are on the frontiers of our great land. Keep watch.

"Everything money could buy, everything the genius of man could invent and everything the loving labor of the workers could make have been given into your hands for the defense and glory of the Soviet land."

The London papers say other Soviet leaders followed Stalin with similar talks. The foreign office in Moscow flatly denied that the dictator had delivered any such address as was reported.

German economists, worried over the mounting costs of re-arming their country, were told the doubling of the term of military service would not be quite so expensive as it appeared, for more men in barracks means fewer on dole. However, the national debt continued to grow and ways of meeting payments are becoming fewer and more scanty.

SECRETARY OF WAR GEORGE H. DERN died in Walter Reed hospital, Washington, of heart disease and other complications resulting from influenza. He had been ill since last spring but part of the time had insisted on attending to his official duties, keeping this up even from his sick bed. Mr. Dern, who was 64 years old, was formerly a brilliant mining engineer and was the second non-Mormon to be elected governor of Utah, serving two terms.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S special train made a quick run to Bismarck, N. D., and the special committee on the drouth, headed by Morris L. Cooke, reported to him on its inspection of the afflicted area. The President then took an automobile tour through the countryside to see for himself some of the effects of the long dry spell. He conferred with Acting Governor Welford and Senators Nye and Frazier of North Dakota and Acting Governor Holt and Senators Wheeler and Murray of Montana. Next day Mr. Roosevelt's train carried him down to Pierre, S. D., and thence into other drouth stricken states.

Mr. Roosevelt's original schedule was changed to permit him to make a quick run to Salt Lake City for the burial services of Secretary of War Dern.

JOHN L. LEWIS' Committee for Industrial Organization in one of its initial efforts to organize the steel workers seems to have succeeded only in leading one big plant to go out of business, throwing 750 men out of employment. Such is the result of a strike in the plant of the Standard Steel Spring company at Coraopolis, Pa., the strike being directed by the CIO. The employees who didn't strike later refused to work because, they said, their families had been threatened by phone with bombing if the men returned to the plant. So the company closed down and began removing the machinery. It was alleged the strikers were assured in advance that they would be given relief money if the plant were closed, and that the state authorities did nothing to protect the plant or the non-strikers from violence.

FEDERAL JUDGE JOHN P. BARNES of Chicago upheld the constitutionality of the Commodity Exchange act and denied an injunction to restrain its enforcement asked by members of the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Judge Barnes agreed with the contention of Special Assistant Attorney General Wendell Berge that the act is "merely an extension of the provisions of the grain futures act," which has been held constitutional by the United States Supreme Court.

FIGURES given out by the Department of Commerce revealed that July merchandise exports from the United States declined to $178,324,000, the lowest level of the year, while imports increased to $193,409,000, leaving an unfavorable balance of trade of $15,085,000 for the month. It was the second successive month an unfavorable balance was reported. However, compared with the 1935 month, exports were up 3 per cent and imports up 9 per cent.

Sec. Roper

The unfavorable balance was regarded by Secretary of Commerce Roper as convincing proof of economic recovery in the United States because nearly half the increase in imports over last year in dollar volume was accounted for by luxury items such as furs and whisky and commodities not extensively produced in this country, such as wood-pulp, paper, nickel and tin.

The increase in exports over July, 1935, consisted chiefly of finished and semi-manufactured articles, including machinery, electrical apparatus, aircraft, iron and steel manufactures and inedible vegetable products.

ACCORDING to estimates of the federal bureau of agricultural economics, the food supply of the United States for the year ending June 31, 1937, will be only 3 per cent below that of 1935-'36, and 1 per cent less than in 1934-'35. The reason is that the exports of food products probably will be less than during the last fiscal year.

The drouth has been unusually severe on feed crops, spring wheat, potatoes, and vegetables for canning.

AFTER more than five weeks of desperate fighting, neither the Spanish loyalists nor the rebels were able to claim a decided advantage, and it became evident that the conflict would be long drawn out if the other European nations could keep aloof.

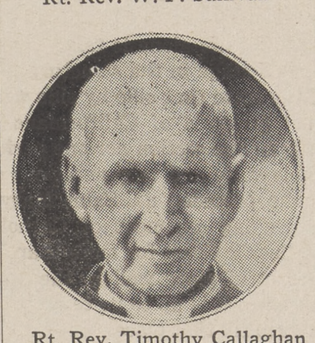
Rt. Rev. W. P. Sullivan



Rt. Rev. Timothy Callaghan

ham's two years summer experience with the Standard Oil in Southern California, who will therefore be fully equipped to handle the managerial end of the project.

For hustle-bustle the station can easily rely on "Dynamo John" Gianonni, who has distinguished himself in this line and should prove the go-getter of the partnership.

"It is our intention to give to students and friends of Saint Mary's as good service in our station as is given in any other Standard station," said John Gianonni yesterday. "For this reason we are looking forward to serving students and ask students to send their visiting friends to our station for proper automotive attention."

After Brother Patrick's announcement in the dining hall yesterday, it was rumored that "appropriate ceremonies" meant that free gas and sandwiches were to be in order. Standard Oil stock (on the campus at least) jumped ten points.

Eager to authenticate this rumor for publication purposes, the five sent a yearling journalist to our enterprising business men. Returning, his simple statement was:

"For only two fellows, they certainly have an effective vocabulary just to say no." Alas, verily it is a shame.

Memorial Mass Said For Former Student

A solemn Mass for the repose of the soul of John R. Friedman, '32, will be said by Father Benjamin Bowling in the college chapel next Thursday morning at 6:30.

The announcement was made by Grand Knight Jack Fissori at the initial meeting of the campus council of the Knights of Columbus, Wednesday evening.

HIGHLIGHTS ... of ... SCIENCE

By BILL GLACKIN

HEART FAILURE

The fundamental cause of heart failure has always been more or less of a mystery to medical men. Now, at last, through the research of Drs. Hermann and Dechard at the University of Texas School of Medicine, the world has a logical explanation, supported by experiment, of the reasons for heart failure.

It seems that there is a chemical substance called phosphocreatine which is built up by the muscles of the heart. If the supply of oxygen to the heart becomes inadequate, the process of building up and breaking down phosphocreatine is disturbed, and serious changes in the chemical structure of the heart muscle cells take place. These changes make the cells less efficient in contracting, with the final result that the heart fails to pump blood.

PLAGUE

Bubonic plague, that scourge of nations for hundreds of years, has recently raised its head in our own state. Doctors reported a mild case of the disease this year in California.

Californians, however, have adequate protection from the dread scourge, which has been ever-present among the rats in the state since the outbreak in San Francisco some years ago. Last year the United States public health service doubled its plague-fighting forces on the coast. The service is also assisted in this work by the state health department.

TRANSPARENT WOMAN

New York doctors were last week treated to an unusual sight—a life-size, transparent anatomical model of a woman. The figure is so ingeniously prepared as to show every organ, all the veins, arteries, nerves and the skeleton of a woman's body.

The model has a skin of cellhorn, a tough, transparent substance whose composition is known only to the German scientists who constructed the woman. Through an extremely clever lighting system, each set of organs of the body can be independently illuminated, thus facilitating study.

Hot Dawgs Too Jazzy For Spaniard Iturbi

CLEVELAND, Ohio. (NWS)—When Jose Iturbi, famous Spanish orchestra leader, appeared at his first concert as guest conductor of the Great Lakes Symphony Orchestra, he reckoned without a typical "fair-grounds" crowd. At the end, he complimented the musicians, "but I can't stand these hot dogs . . . pop bottles . . . whistles . . . Street cars. Am I burlesque? Am I a jazz band? I'm quitting." Yet of hot dogs, he said, "I adore them, but not in a symphony audience."

Announcement this week of the appointment of Leo Rooney, former Saint Mary's College football star, to the faculty of Pleasanton high school, brought to 14 the number of Galloping Gael graduates who have landed teaching and coaching jobs this summer.

SOPHS COME OUT AHEAD IN BRAWL AMID PROTESTS

turf. This did not apply to sophomores.

Scramble Best Event

As a new addition to the day's program, the SM boys entered a "sandbag scramble." Ten bags of sand having been placed 50 feet from the sophomores and 100 feet from the freshmen, both teams attempted to drag as many as possible across the finish line.

In the words of Vic Strub, master of ceremonies, "anything" went — except a win for the frosh. This was adjudged by far the most interesting event of the day, according to reports. Football players were not allowed to compete in the doings, at the request of the coaching staff, which was generally agreed by all to be a good idea. Spectators reported that several of the larger boys were quite rough. This event was also won by the second year gentlemen, as was expected. The consensus of opinion was that the yearlings put up a good fight and lots of it, but tradition being what it is, results don't add up that way.

"Little Slip" Madigan, questioned by a local reporter, stated, "I could not get in at all. They said I was too small. I think it's discrimination."

Frosh Disqualified

In the tug-of-war, final event of the afternoon, the sophomores were twice pulled off their feet by the babes, who at last had to be disqualified for pulling too hard.

Sophomore strategy in this event included tying the end of the rope to a stake and covering it with sand bags. Sand bags, stake, and Mike Perry were pulled off the field and into the bush.

This event, won by the sophs after a disqualification, supposedly pushed the second year men into the win column. Both groups left the field in a jaded condition, stated one observer.

Sophomore Win?

Officially, the sophomores won the day, but five impartial spectators gave the event to the babes, it was reported to a Collegian correspondent.

No casualties were reported outside a few who turned up "punchy" after the sand bag party. This affair brings to a close the period of light hazing enjoyed by both classes. Favorable comment was passed on the way in which the brawl was handled. The sophomores liked it best.

Pontiff's Health Low, Reports Vatican City

Buy the Thing—

THAT every member of Saint Mary's student body should purchase his student body card is axiomatic.

Why every member of the Saint Mary's student body should purchase his student body card should be apparent. But in case it isn't, here are a few salient reminders:

1. The purchase of a student body card makes one a bona fide member of the student association.
2. The book of rooter's tickets, which allows students the right of free entrance to Saint Mary's games cannot be secured without a card.
3. No student may exercise his preferred seat option who has not purchased a student body card.
4. Without the revenue gained from student body cards the student association would not be in a position to finance any kind of activities which engage the students in extra-curricular activity.
5. No student may take part in the intramural sports program if he has not obtained his card.
6. A student who has not secured his card will not be allowed to participate in such activities as debating, writing for the school paper, or dramatics.
7. Finally, no student can show a spirit of cooperation or an interest in the welfare of the student association, or a genuine interest in the welfare of Saint Mary's College if he does not purchase a student body card.

A Real Welcome

IT WILL NOT be long before the first social function of the year, the annual Frosh Welcome dance, will be held in honor of the first year men, held for the purpose of acquainting this year's large class with the student body in a manner perhaps a bit more fitting than the welcome extended them during the last few weeks.

As usual, the dance will be well attended by the frosh, anxious to make their social debut, eager to become in a real way true "men of Saint Mary's." It therefore becomes the apparent duty of the rest of the student body to afford our new classmates the kind of an evening, the kind of a welcome thoroughly befitting the caliber of this year's freshmen group.

This means that not merely a few of the upper division men and sophomores attend, but that all without exception be there. Certainly the welcome cannot be complete and effective if it is done half-heartedly, if it is attended by merely the usual staunch handful. The frosh must be made to feel that we are really as glad to receive them as we are. Therefore, in order to do things right and to make the class of '40 know that they are to be tied to the college by effective, lasting bonds, as many of the student body as can should support the dance and assure the success of the welcome to our yearling class.

Preparedness

THE opening of the Golden Gate International Exposition in 1939 will witness the rise of a period of prosperity unequalled in the history of the Bay Region. The completion of the immense San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge will mark the influx of a new energy into Northern California business, stimulated in large part by the remarkable achievement involved in the erection of those two giant structures. There is almost certain to be a vast increase in population, what with the development of greater facilities for transportation—both in Oakland and in San Francisco—enabling people to commute more easily between the business centers and the outlying residential districts of the Bay Region. Saint Mary's College and the Moraga Valley will in all probability receive a substantial share of the advantages accruing from the expected increase in business and population. It is well to be prepared for what the future may bring.

Several San Francisco papers have remarked that the opening of the bridges and the attendant exposition will be the occasion for many local political celebrations. Bay Region office seekers already have their soap boxes out, proclaiming their individual responsibility for the completion of the bridges; quite willing to assume the credit for this great achievement in order to further their own political ambitions. Such self-centered localists should be discouraged at once.

The attitude that the bridges belong to one city or that the exposition is the triumph of one section of the state alone is false. These things form but a stage in the structural development of the state that side by side with the intellectual progress of Californians is attributable not to one section nor one period but to the whole state and to generations of Californians who preceded us. Saint Mary's College, as a leading exponent of Catholic culture on the Pacific Coast for more than 70 years has a rightful place well in the vanguard of celebrants. It is up to us to see that we are prepared to fill that place.

Aid the Gael

AS HAS been required by the administration of the college for the past two years, the staff of the 1937 Gael must have on hand the sum of $500 before any work can be done on the annual. There is no question that the money will be raised. The only problem is the time element, and in a project of this kind, time is a precious thing.

Saint Mary's is justly proud of the record it has made in the yearbook field. All during the depression, the Gael was published while every other men's college on the Pacific Coast was forced to drop the undertaking, so that today Saint Mary's holds the honor of being the only institution of its kind in the far west with a continued publication of its annual.

The junior class will publish a Gael next year, but it is handicapped until $500 is raised. Therefore put your deposit down now. It is urgently needed.

Social Justice

THIS week the executive council acted upon a suggestion, and as a result voted to invite Father Coughlin, famed Detroit radio priest, to the campus to speak to the student body while on his proposed trip to California next month. This action on the part of the students was indeed praiseworthy and certainly the college will benefit by a visit from the distinguished priest.

The typical fairmindedness of a Catholic college is herein demonstrated, for although Father Coughlin is opposed on some sides, nevertheless his side of the controversial political question shall be considered equally with that of the others. While his tenets may be termed radical by the staunch standpatters, nevertheless they are held by supporters to be in accord with Pope Pius' encyclical "Quadragessimo Anno."

This does not mean that as Catholics we must be in accord with Father Coughlin's political doctrines, for he may have interpreted the encyclical too freely, or there may be some deviations in Father Coughlin's theory. However, it is with an open mind that Saint Mary's extends its welcome, in the hope that no incorrect implications be thusly abstracted.

Moraga Musings

As one man to another, the Muser would like very much to know . . . who the Monitor was trying to fool last week when it tabbed a campus notable "Doctor" . . . why "Honest John" from Patterson is soft-pedaling it of late . . . why Hiho's real nickname from Montana, "Tubba," has not stuck . . . our saint, Ned O'Laf, spent an extra week in the southland . . . why Barney Google's Terriers of last year's fame have been well distributed between soph and center halls . . .

FOR LADIES ONLY

Just as ye olde Muser thought, you couldn't conquer your curiosity. Was that a gentlemanly thing to do? The old Muser was all set to dish out some kindly advice, but he suspected something like this would happen. Now you can just content yourself with thinking of what might have been here if you hadn't be so darn nosey.

* * * * *

SPEAKING OF PRESIDENTS, did you know that in the past four years, three of the sophomore class presidents have been pre-Med students (the Muser says "students" advisably), including Rod Stetson, Orv Mulqueeny and present Fred Burrows . . . that student body prexy Alioto spent the mornings during the summer from 4:30 a.m. (sez he) slicing fish, spending the rest of the day in law courts garnering first hand legal knowledge . . . that senior president, Bill Simon, traveled the length and breadth of Europe?

OUTLOOKS & INSIGHTS

TRIUMPHS OF FAILURE

Why should we be especially perturbed when we find out that we put confidence in somebody who has abused it or that somebody has made us believe he is much more important, honest, devoted than he really is? Stark Young, the American novelist, thus writes in "Felicianna":

Brother Leo

"My father used to say: 'Never suspect people. It's better to be deceived or mistaken, which is only human, after all, than to be suspicious, which is common'."

That word "common," in the sense here used has unfortunately almost gone out of use. It means low, vulgar, unworthy of a gentleman. The man who goes round suspecting people is certainly all that.

Manly men despise snooping and snoopers. And manly men, even though they lose by it, are loath to wallow in suspicion. I think it is better to have the reputation of being easily imposed upon than to be set down as a graveyard detective. Besides, in the long run, it is the suspicious snooper who is most frequently fooled.

THE HIGHEST TRIBUTE

Recently an American gentleman traveling in Germany—a country, by the way, vastly different from the caricature of it which we often get in our newspapers — met an earnest and educated young man in Munich. Said the young man:

"We get such distorted impressions of Americans from moving pictures and books and sometimes from tourists. Can you tell me a book, written by an American, which conveys an idea of American culture at its best?"

"Yes," replied the American traveler. "Get hold of the life of Paderewsky written by Charles Phillips."

Perhaps that recommendation seems odd, especially if you know nothing of the late Charles Phillips and have not read his life of the Polish pianist and patriot. But the American traveler was right.

The tribute was all the greater because personally Phillips was totally unknown to him. He had simply read the biography, and declared he knew of no other American book so ripe and sound, so gracious and urbane, so spiritual and warmly human.

WHAT IS A MONSIGNOR?

Briefly a Monsignor is a priest, specially honored by the Holy Father, who is entitled to be addressed as Right Reverend and wear garb resembling that of a bishop.

Recently the distinction has been accorded to seven priests of the Archdiocese of San Francisco. Among them is the Right Reverend William P. Sullivan, loyal Saint Mary's graduate and pastor of Most Holy Redeemer Church. How his old friend and teacher, Brother Agnon, would have rejoiced to see this day!

Another local priest honored with the title is the veteran Monsignor Timothy Callaghan of San Mateo. Born in 1845, he has led an active, priestly life. I like to think that one reason for his longevity is his devotion to the things of the mind. An assiduous book buyer and book reader, he is not less a lavish book giver. Many a volume in Saint Mary's College library has been donated by Monsignor Callaghan.

Thought for the Week

"Blessed are the sensitive, even though sometimes they suffer. The great poet's soul is an Aeolian harp which vibrates responsive to the faintest spiritual breathings of things; but ordinary souls are like the stiff cordage of ships which make music only when played upon by the strongest blasts." — Hiram Corson, long professor of literature at Cornell.

"Religious education is the great principle of the life of society, the only means of diminishing the total of evil and of augmenting the total of good in human life."—Balzac, eminent French novelist, some of whose books are on the Index.

"Shall I tell you the secret of the true scholar?" asks Emerson. "It is this: Every man I meet is my master in some point, and in that I learn of him."

The Bystander

By FRANK MARTIN

IT'S DEFINITE THIS TIME

Whither has flown all the talk of Saint Mary's becoming a co-educational institution? At this time last year, the student body was in a dither wondering whether or not the sacred sanctums of the campus would be invaded by a group of dizzy frills having respect for no mere man, and hence honoring nothing of a nature dear to the hearts of masculine students.

Two definite factions arose on the campus, splitting the integral unity of local opinion. The first faction was absolutely opposed to any violation of Saint Mary's College's long standing tradition of masculinity; the second group favored a period of experimentation, reasoning that if co-education turned out to be lacking in all the hoped for virtues it would still be possible to make a change.

The majority of the students sided with the first faction against the idea of co-education in the college. To the average Saint man, the thought of the "paint and powder brigade" tredding in places where trod previously the hallowed footsteps of Saint Mary's legendary heroes—the Brovellis, the Toscanis, the Frankians, and the Bettencourts—was well nigh repulsive. Honor and sacred tradition prevented any concession being made on this score. At no cost was the so-called "weaker sex" to be allowed to secure a foothold on the campus, even if brave collegians had to martyr their hopes for a social career on the altar of sacrifice.

Motivated by less worthy causes, the second faction was nevertheless possessed of adherents equally firm in their convictions. Many of these supported the idea that Saint Mary's College was not occupying its proper place in the social life of bay region colleges. An increased number of social activities, more frequent tea dansants and rally dances, was thus the desired order of the day, and how could such a program be satisfied properly without eventually resorting to co-educationalism? Thus the argument raged between the two forces, covering a multitude of issues, but reaching no definite conclusions satisfactory to either side.

Finally came the reluctant announcement from the office that the much discussed subject of co-education at Saint Mary's was but a publicity stunt from the fertile brain of Robert McAndrews, erstwhile Public Relations Director of the College, and peace once more settled down over the Valley of the Moragas.

Collegiana

By CORNELIO BACA

KNOCK! KNOCK!

The devil must be given his due—so right at the start let me inform you that The Suave Senior, Dan Leary, is not responsible for the following—the LaSalle Collegian did it:

Grudge: A place where automobiles are kept.

Paradox: Expresses the presence of two ducks.

Sardines: Means the children of the Czar.

Moron: Is a person who is content with a serene mind.

GEESE

From the Manhattan Quadrangle: "Geese is a low, heavy-set bird which is mostly meat and feathers. His head sits on one side and he sits on the other. Geese can't sing much on account of dampness in the moistures. He ain't got no in-between the toes and he's got a little balloon in his stummick to keep him from sinking. Some geese when they get big has curls on their tails and is called ganders. Ganders don't haff to sit and watch but just eat and loaf, and go swimming. If I was a geese, I'd rather be a gander."

FLAT CHESTS

If your chest is flat, you are probably more intelligent than the fellow whose bulging chest interferes with his view of his feet. At least, so says Dr. S. H. Weisman of the University of Minnesota, who has spent a lot of time peering and probing into the matter. He concludes that flat-chested persons not only average greater intelligence that the full-chested, but are taller and heavier.

ALL WET

Slip: "Have you taken a shower?"

Giannoni: "No, is one missing?"

WHISTLE

Try wetting this one:
I bought a wooden whistle,
But it wooden whistle.
I bought a steel whistle
But it steel wooden whistle.
I bought a tin whistle,
Now I tin whistle.

MESMERIZED

Charles Hudson Emory, an eastern student, spent three days in a hypnotic trance when Professor W. G. Workman of the psychology department was trying to hypnotize another student for demonstration purposes, gave Charlie the works instead. For three days fellow students walked him, rode him on street cars, etc. Suddenly, on the fourth day, he blinked and asked what had happened.

GUM

A Chicago philanthropist is announced as giving the Trojan Dental College $6,000 for experiments with chewing gum. The co-eds will now be offering themselves as sacrifices in the interets of science.

WAITING AND WATCHIN'

A Lehigh student was heard to remark, at a dance, to a fraternity brother: "Will you please tell my girl and her escort that I'm waiting?"

PRACTICE

It's quite all right if your little brothers and sisters don't like to practice at the piano for their regular half-hour a day. Professor Carlyle Scott, head of the music department at the University of Minnesota, says it's quite all right. In fact, the prof broke down and confessed that when he was a youngster he used to set the clock ahead and climb out the window. Which reminds us that too many profs forget that they were young once.

CULLINGS

According to alumni office records, 750 Duke University alumni married as the result of campus romances . . . A Harvard zoologist risked his life to enter his burning home. He was after a sheaf of corrected exam papers . . . Sixty-two per cent of Simmons College school of English grads are engaged in someone of the writing professions . . . New York's public education system has received $34,500,000 from PWA during the depression years . . . The American Liberty League claims a membership of 200 among Rutgers students.
